

STUDENTS OF THE WEEK FROM AREA HIGH SCHOOLS

Mount Abraham Union High School

Cole Shepard

Mt. Abraham Union High School is proud to recognize Cole Shepard as its Student of the Week. Cole lives in Lincoln with his mom, dad, sister, and two dogs.

Cole has earned honor roll recognition for the majority of his high school career and is currently a member of the National Technical Honor Society at the Patricia A. Hannaford Career Center. He values the variety of opportunities available at Mt. Abe and appreciates that "there is a path for success for everyone." Cole's favorite classes have ranged from math and social studies to courses at The Hannaford Career Center. He especially enjoyed classes like Integrated Math 2 & Integrated Math 3, as well as social studies courses that encouraged him to form his own opinions on a wide range of topics. His favorite courses, however, have been through the Hannaford Career Center, where he is currently enrolled in Construction Technology and previously completed Mechanical Science.

as his favorite teacher. "Nick is always looking for ways to help his students, like taking them to events to connect with employers and setting up job shadows to help students decide what they want to do after school."

Outside of school, Cole helps with his family's maple sugaring business and recently began working as an electrical apprentice. In his free time, Cole enjoys spending time with family and friends, hunting and being outdoors.

Reflecting on his high school experience, Cole stated, "You need to follow the path that you want to follow, not the one that others want you to follow. You'll get a lot more enjoyment and value out of school if you take the classes that interest you."

After graduation, Cole plans to continue his electrical apprenticeship full-time with Newton Electrical Refrigeration and Air Conditioning. We appreciate Cole's strong work ethic and dedication to his academics. We wish him all the best in his future endeavors.
